

Curriculum vitae

Dietlind Konold grew up near Kiel (north of Germany). She studied stage and costume design at the Hochschule für Bildende Künste in Hamburg with Prof. Wilfried Minks.

After a short period of several assistances in Hamburg and Stuttgart, she started to work as stage and costume designer in theater in 1974 and worked with such well-known directors as Jürgen Flimm, Dieter Giesing, Andrea Breth, Wilfried Minks, Maria Reinhard and José Luis Gómez.

Numerous productions, as Woyzeck, Uncle Wanja, The Trojans, Macbeth, Playing with love and Springs awakening took her to important theaters in Europe, among them Bremen, Köln, Hamburg, Frankfurt, Darmstadt, Mannheim, Barcelona, Madrid, Wien, Zürich.

She frequently works in Spain and at last she created stage and costumes for Measure for measure in Teatro de la Abadía in Madrid. From 1989 onwards she began to design for opera, and created decors for The magic flute, Figaro, Leonore, Twelfth Night, Idomeneo, Cosí fan tutte, Katja Kabanova, Nabucco and Dido and Aeneas in Kassel, Innsbruck, Aachen, Weimar, Braunschweig und Dessau.

Dietlind Konold is accustomed to working with various directors, such as Bruno Klimek, Kerstin M. Pöhler, Mascha Poertzgen, Joaquin Hinojosa and Carlos Aladro; there is an ongoing and long-term working relationship with director Ralph Bridle (Amadis, Measure for measure, Enrico, Enron) and Aron Stiehl (Madama Pompadour, Madama Butterfly, La Bohème, The Bat). She designed the decors for several dance - theater shows of choreographer David Williams in Braunschweig, Giessen and Ingolstadt.

Finally she created stage and costumes for the celebrated productions of La belle Helene and Tommy – the Who in Bielefeld, and costumes for such highly praised productions of obscure operas as Maria Tudor (Paccini) in Giessen, and Maskerade (Nielsen) in Krefeld/Mönchengladbach.

Next projects are Figaro in Magdeburg and Oleanna in Hamburg.

Dietlind Konold is married to the composer Manfred Trojahn and has one grown up son. She lives in Düsseldorf.
